Smoke Signals

Love's Travel Stops and Country Stores has entered into a Franchise Agreement with KOA, North America's largest campground chain to become a major campground developer.

“As we began to consider adding camping to our portfolio of hospitality offerings, KOA just made sense,” said Kevin McCarthy, director of special projects for Love's. “Both Love's and KOA have a nearly 60-year track record of being at the forefront of their industries. We really think the combined expertise of these brands makes for a powerful partnership.”

The McComb KOA Journey in McComb, Mississippi will be Love's first entrance into the campground market. It's expected to open by the end of the year. “Journey” campgrounds are KOA's convenient, low frills parks, offering pull-through sites and well-lit after-hours check-in along major highways.

“We are thrilled to have Love's Travel Stops join the KOA Family of Campgrounds,” said Larry Brownfield, KOA senior director of franchise development. “We know that with the power of the KOA brand and Love's history of proving quality amenities and services to motorists, this new campground will be a resounding success.”
